The workplace is not what it used to be. Time was that graduation day marked the beginning of a career that would last a lifetime and the end of classes and the learning experience. It is not like that anymore. In this global economy, school is never out. A child starting school today will probably have 14 different occupations, 10 of which have not even been invented yet. Todays workplace demands an ever-changing workforce that can adapt to the requirements and skills of the new high-tech jobs that are in such high demand. Keeping our workforce abilities and skills current will be vital to not only our Nations families but our economy as well. That will mean integrating our education programs so that they support a lifetime of learning and changing the way that we think about school and the education process. In the past, we too often looked at the process of education as if it existed in separate, distinct silos-- preschool, elementary, secondary, postsecondary, the end. This perspective is...
