His first experiment was so satisfactory that he often repeated it, and it was followed by the most gratifying improvement. At first Stovall was on his good behavior. He brought water to fill their camp kettle, and proved himself an adept in forest cookery. They had, besides their little kettle, a pint tin cup, a spoon or two made of hickory bark or buffalo horn, a tomahawk, and the ever-needful butcher knife, which also performed the duties of a razor. Michael had his pet paroquet and his experiments on himself for the cure of his rheumatism as his sole occupations, but his lot was a safe and tranquil one compared to what it soon became. As time went on the blackness of Stovall s character began to show itself in a more and more ugly light. One...
