Excerpt: .100 words a minute, and any stenographer who is sure of her ability to take that number of words and read it without hesitation, is certain of a position. Keep a pencil in the rubber band which you have put around the finished pages of your notebook. Be sure you get everything down clearly in your shorthand notes. Whenever there is a pause in dictation, instead of gazing absently about, look back over your notes, so that you can read them like print when you are asked to do so, and, you know, this you will be called upon to do many, many times; for there are few business men who are able to dictate perfectly. When your employer asks you what he said last, always begin to read to him from the last period. Don t read to him from the middle of...
